I am from 1988-92 E&C batch. Those were the early days for E&C where the department was getting built and slowly establishing. While the focus was on learning technology but the atmosphere in college was so diverse that we learnt lot of networking, communication and team building as well. Probably this is the first time I was exposed to folks from other regions of India. We had the privilege of very good set of faculties, but they were so friendly that many things were discussed off the class as well.

Specially in North Karnataka Basaveshwar Engineering College is one of the best. We came out of the college confident, along with technology our communication skills improved. Communication holds an important key in the entire future life. I am ever thankful for all the support, knowledge BEC has given us. Wishing the organization super best always.

Fundamentals of technology & life are the key mantras for success of an engineer. Both are very well taught in Basaveshwar Engineering College (BEC). Most of the faculties are highly capable, resourceful, humble & friendly. There is a tremendous support & freedom to work on any potential research projects (I personally have worked on Nanotechnology & UAV. Our team even got funding from college to build an UAV). BEC is one of the best engineering college in North Karnataka. Highly motivated & committed faculty and best infrastructure adds lot of value in every engineer graduating from BEC, Bagalkot.

I graduated at BEC Bagalkot in 2003. I have work experience of 18 years in the Information Technology industry. Began my IT career as a Java developer in Bangalore, graduated to roles like Team Lead, Project Lead, Project Manager and Program Manager. Based out of Munich, Germany since Jan-2017, I was lucky to play a key role of Engagement Lead, in my recent work assignment, where I was responsible for the commercial success of a large German Telecommunications engagement. I have worked for both product and project-based organizations in the past. Apart from the great technical knowledge that I imbibed at BEC, some of the key learnings from the BEC teachers: Faith, Eye for details, meticulous tracking, passion for success, integrity – these qualities have immensely helped me to succeed in my career.

Testimonial: My experience while pursuing B.E in Electronics and Communication at BEC (2008-2012) was tremendous. The course curriculum was very challenging but rewarding. The faculty is well trained and best in their field of specialization. The friendliness and approachable nature of the faculty in ECE department helps students to clarify all their doubts and learn new skills and be updated. The knowledge, skills, personality, and confidence developed through these 4 years of my education is the solid foundation to my career and my PhD research. The workshop and internship I had attended and worked in with Rexroth Bosch Pvt. LTD, Bengaluru combined with my department, is one of the reasons for choosing my field of specialization and research in Automation and Control, specifically Sliding Mode Control. The attitude of learning new technology, skills, taking up new challenges, doing research, and so on were developed during my curriculum with the interaction with the faculty and many industry speakers who visited our department. For these reasons and more, I will be forever grateful for my time at BEC and the teachers that attributed to the successes in my life thus far.
